

Testimonials

"Michael O'Kelly and his team completed our house in 2002. Our house design was very intricate, and in selecting a builder, we interviewed six companies. We chose Michael based on references from previous clients, as well as the fact that he was the only builder who was prepared to show the full detail of his quotations. He was also willing to accept such a complex project, a commitment that many other builders were hesitant to make.

Michael has a passion for high quality projects, and both his commitment and standard of work are unparalleled. He has instilled this same passion in his skilled work force, and he expects an equally excellent standard from all his sub-contractors.

We also found Michael and his highly professional staff very easy to talk to and get along with – qualities that seem rare in the current building industry but essential for home-builders.

We would highly recommend Ultimate Buildings for homes of detailed designs and quality finishes."

"When we decided to build our first home it was a task in itself to find someone who would listen to our dreams, let alone turn them into reality. Fortunately we ran into Ultimate Buildings where you not only made this happen but ensured it was a pleasant and timely experience for my family.

From day one at the site meeting through to the handover, all our expectations and needs were not only met but frequently exceeded by your staff.

I would like to thank you personally for the dedication you put into our project which allowed my family to see in the new year in our new home.

After the experience my family and I obtained with Ultimate Buildings I have no hesitation in calling on you for our next project."

Firstly we were most impressed by the detailed quotation line by line costing out each phase of the construction, leaving one with the most clear idea of where the overall cost of the quotation was coming from.

Taking into consideration the detailed nature of the finish of the residence - it is a credit to all concerned the most satisfactory overall fine result. Your company would always be highly recommended by my wife and I."

Due to being a very complicated design and a very big home, we called for tenders and interviewed five reputable building companies and selected your company as the preferred builder for construction of our home. This selection was due to being competitive in price and reputable in quality and workmanship.

During the entire construction period Ultimate Buildings attention to quality and details were apparent. My wife and I are convinced that no builder could do a better job than what your company did. Your honesty was the highlight of your profession that is very difficult to find these days!

We are so grateful to you and your team that carried out this enormous task with minimum hassle to us, with great passion to quality, within the committed timeframe and budget. We will always remain a good reference for your company. We would highly recommend Ultimate Buildings for homes of good quality and great finishes."

Brookfield "We built our first home with Ultimate Buildings and are extremely happy. Michael O'Kelly and all the team took a great deal of pride in delivering a quality job on time. The building job ran very smoothly due to good communication and attention to detail. We wouldn't hesitate in recommending Ultimate Buildings to anyone."

Mr. & Mrs. Dean "When we searched for someone to build our home a number of years back we had a pretty stringent criteria for selection of a builder. We had our plans but were open to ideas if the right options were put forward. Price was an obvious factor but not at the expense of quality. We wanted a unique, standout home built to quality specification, and constructed by a builder that we thought would work with us to achieve our goal. We canvassed a number of builders and got the usual repertoire of excuses and tradeoffs, and the most annoying to my wife, 'you're female so what would you know about building a house';.

We selected Ultimate Buildings and we still contact Mike these days as a friend after all of these years. He's genuine, affable, exacting and has staff working for him that take as much pride in their work as he does in delivering what we wanted. A phone call at work one day during construction says it all. Mike had asked me if I would like to save a few thousand dollars or should I just proceed as per the plan. He then presented some options with pros and cons and talked those through with me. The end result was a higher ceiling in our living room area, a few thousand dollars in our pocket and less work for Mike to do. Most builders would present this as a variation of contract and you would be invoiced accordingly.

Would I build with Ultimate Buildings again? Of course I would.

Would I recommend Mike as a builder? Absolutely.

Do I know of other people who have had houses built by Mike? Yes I do and they have similar praise."
